Prisoner Review Board

38th ANNUAL REPORT
January 1 to December 31, 2014

LETTER FROM THE CHAIRMAN

STATE OF ILLINOIS
PAT QUINN, GOVERNOR

Adam P. Monreal, Chairman

The Honorable Pat Quinn
Office of the Governor
207 Statehouse
Springfield, Illinois 62706

Dear Governor Quinn:

As Chairman of the Illinois Prisoner Review Board, I present to you the thirty-eighth annual report for the calendar year 2014.

The Prisoner Review Board has two primary objectives. The first and foremost objective is to maintain the safety of the residents of the State of Illinois. The residents of the State are entitled to live in their communities knowing that their State officials are working toward reducing the crime rate.

The second objective is to develop strategies, programs, procedures and policies to ensure that ex-offenders are safely returned into their communities. The Prisoner Review Board is working with the Department of Corrections, the Department of Juvenile Justice, the Attorney General's Office and State & local law enforcement agencies to ensure that ex-offenders receive the proper support, monitoring and education so that ex-offenders can obtain sufficient employment opportunities and education. With proper education and employment we can divert ex-offenders from their criminal past. The Prisoner Review Board works and collaborates with other public and private agencies that provide assistance and programming to ex-offenders in their transition. An ex-offender's successful transition to their community provides these individuals with the opportunity to become productive residents of the State therefore, reducing the rate of recidivism in the State. The criminal justice system continues to change and will always evolve to society's demands.

The Illinois Prisoner Review Board is a pivotal State Agency in the State's criminal justice system. The State of Illinois has always held a position of prominence within the criminal justice system. The Prisoner Review Board has promoted and supported statutory changes in the law that protect the rights of law abiding residents and the victims of criminal behavior. The Prisoner Review Board has proposed legislation that provides second opportunities to ex-offenders who have demonstrated that their criminal behavior is part of their past.

Recognizing the State and the Union are entering a new era within the criminal justice system, the Prisoner Review Board continues to adapt to the changes in order address the multitude of issues that confront the Board.

The Prisoner Review Board will continued to strive in order develop and implement strategic methods in the parole system order to achieve the goal of making the State of Illinois a leader in transitioning ex-offenders into the community.

Sincerely,

Adam Monreal
Chairman

INTRODUCTION

Prior to February 1, 1978, the Illinois Prisoner Review Board (“the Board”) was a division of the Illinois Department of Corrections (“IDOC”) known as the Parole and Pardon Board. Today the Board is a quasi-judicial entity that makes decisions concerning adult and juvenile prison inmate matters. By Statute it is currently composed of 15 members who are appointed by the Governor, with the approval of the State Senate.

While the number of classic parole cases has decreased in recent years, today the greater part of the Board’s time is employed in holding parole revocation hearings, consisting of technical and new sentence revocations. The dockets are approximately 10,333 cases a year. These hearings are held at the various penal institutions around the state. The hearings can be complex fact-finding affairs involving attorneys on both sides of the questions, witness testimony, cross-examinations, and volumes of documentary evidence.

This kind of hearing and reviewing activity at both juvenile and adult institutions is at the heart of the Board’s duties. Board members and staff travel to each institution of the Illinois Department of Corrections and to the Cook County Jail at least once each month. On any given month, the Board will visit all institutions, sometimes twice a month, to conduct its hearings.

Executive Clemency

Perhaps the most visible work the Board does involves executive clemency proceedings, which occur four times a year. Twice in Chicago and two times in Springfield the Board convenes to hear petitions from individuals seeking clemency in the form of a pardon, an expungement, a commutation or some other form of relief from the Governor. Confidential recommendations are made to the Governor after these hearings are held and they are sent to his office for a final determination. Most petitioners request public hearings, but the Board also reviews petitions without a public hearing if the petitioner so chooses.

Victim Notification

One of the Board’s other historically significant mandates has been to provide victim notification services. The Board has an award-winning, specialized victim notification unit devoted to alerting victims and their families of the impending release of an inmate from IDOC.

The Victim Notification Unit (“VNU”) documents the names. The VNU has always facilitated the victims’ desire to inform the Board of their opinions about the individuals who victimized them.

By allowing the victims to be involved in the process, it is the Board's intention to assist them in experiencing less frustration with the criminal justice system. Victims and their loved ones call, write or very often meet with Board members to register their opposition to parole or to request special conditions of parole. This is all coordinated by a small, dedicated staff that compose the VNU and the Operations Unit. Board members and staff work closely with victim advocates and state's attorneys throughout Illinois to coordinate efforts to protect the rights of crime victims.

The Board also convenes at least twice a month to deliberate and prepare orders which enumerate the conditions that an inmate shall abide by while on parole/mandatory supervised release. On an average month the Board will issue approximately 2,000 orders for these inmates who will be placed on mandatory supervised release pursuant to law.

C-Number Hearings

Before 1978 one of the Board's primary mandates was to hold parole eligibility hearings for prison inmates whose sentences were of indeterminate durations. After that date, when determinate (flat) sentences were legislated in Illinois, the number of classic parole hearings for what have become known as C-number inmates, was fixed at a group of approximately 16,500 inmates, a number that has been whittled down to approximately 162 in the course of the years. These hearings continue to be held across the state and constitute the Board's most contested and deliberated hearings. The Board convenes two times a month at its Springfield headquarters to thoroughly discuss and vote on these special cases.

Other Hearings

The Board also reviews Illinois Department of Correction's recommendations for revocation of inmate good conduct credits when there has been an alleged violation of institutional rules. It provides a hearing to permit an inmate to make a defense, if desired, against the allegation, then decides whether to revoke these credits. The Board is further authorized to review IDOC recommendations for restoration of lost credits in cases in which an inmate's good behavior appears to merit such a reward. More than 2,400 such hearings are conducted each year.

Juvenile Hearings

Finally, the Board carries out specialized juvenile parole hearings at eight juvenile institutions each month under provisions of the Juvenile Court Act. These hearings mirror the adult hearings described above, but are conducted pursuant to different laws than those observed in the adult hearings.

Recidivism

With the State confronting a recidivism rate of approximately 47.1%, the reintegration of individuals back into society from incarceration is challenging. Presently, there is an emerging belief that the larger price is being borne by society, since the practical barriers facing people with criminal records make it more likely that they will slip back into a life of crime if not effectively addressed.

One of the overwhelming requests to the Prisoner Review Board on clemency issues is that persons with convictions cannot get jobs. Many employers refuse to give jobs to convicted persons because they don't trust convicted persons, they are afraid of lawsuits on negligent hiring, insurance companies and in some cases because of legal prohibitions regarding hiring of convicted persons. However, the lack of jobs is compounding the problem. Persons who have been convicted, after they have finished their time are returning back to community only to find they can no longer get jobs. They are on public aid and because they cannot earn a living return to a life of crime in order to survive.

In order to break the high rate of recidivism, we must allow convicted persons to become law-abiding citizens. By introducing rehabilitation programs which specifically aid those who have served their debt to society, this goal can be attained.

The Board continues to hear clemency requests and makes confidential recommendations to the Governor. The Governor has made final decisions on 1,041 clemency cases this year.
